

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. If a federal standard is necessary, please make sure that it does not interfere with Indiana's law. Since the law became effective in January of 2002, the number of unwanted solicitation calls has dropped to almost 0. This has dramatically improved quality time with my family.